SUMMER ALL-STAR GAMES APPROVED

A list of basketball and football games approved for the summer by the NCAA Committee on All-Star High School Games or the appropriate state high school association has been issued by the Committee.

It also has suggested that the football and basketball coaching staffs of member institutions be reminded of Constitution 3-10-(b), which states a student-athlete "shall be denied his first year of varsity athletic competition if following his graduation from high school and before his enrollment in college, he was a member of a squad which engaged in any all-star football or basketball contest which was not specifically approved by the appropriate state high school association, or if interstate, by the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations or all of the state high school athletic associations involved; the Council of this Association may designate a committee to act in place of any state association which declines to assume the jurisdiction described in this paragraph."

The list:

Approved All-Star Football Games

State	1969 Date	Place	Name of Game
ALABAMA	Aug. 7	Tuscaloosa	AHSAA All-Star
ARIZONA	Aug. 16	Flagstaff	Arizona All-Star

Centennial Billboards Available to Members

A colorful college football Centennial billboard has been created for use by NCAA member institutions in promoting the game's 100th Anniversary.

It is available for just $6.50, f.o.b. Atlanta, Ga., and is 12 by 25 feet. The gold Centennial symbol and bright-jerseyed players are shown against a turf-green background, giving a colorful effect the black and white photo below cannot fully portray.

At the bottom of the billboard is a blank space upon which the institution can place its name or football message to individualize each board.

For its $6.50, the institution receives the paper necessary to cover an outdoor billboard. Weight of the paper is approximately five pounds.

Use of the board is predicated upon the understanding that many colleges and universities are able to use available billboards on a public service basis, and therefore will pay only for posting the paper, not rental on the board.

Order blanks for the billboards have been mailed to the director of athletics of each member institution and to allied conferences. Deadline for returning orders to the NCAA office is June 16, since production time is four weeks and time will be required locally after receipt for delivery to a local outdoor advertising company and for posting.

The billboard is a joint venture of the Committee for the Advancement of Intercollegiate Football and the NCAA College Football Centennial Committee.

The Advancement Committee—in order to make the price to the institution as attractive as possible approved offering the boards at a quantity discount price. Should orders not reach the required figure for the boards actually to be purchased at $6.50 from the manufacturer, the Advancement Committee will meet the difference in price per board from Centennial promotional funds.

Chairman of the Advancement Committee is Bob Bronzan of San Jose State College. Chairman of the NCAA Centennial Committee is Larry Klein, director of NCSS.

Columnary Craft

Reprinted below is an excerpt from the writing of a news columnist commenting pertinently about college or amateur athletics. It is selected because the NCAA NEWS feels it makes a point or discusses a topic which will interest NEWS readers.

(You may have already read this in Sports Illustrated, but the NEWS feels it deserves repeating.)

"The old saw about the college football player who handled addition and subtraction without too much trouble, but found multiplication hell, has long been discredited, and if you need evidence check with the University of South Carolina. Each Spring the university has a competition, patterned after television's College Bowl, to determine the brainiest four student group on campus.

"Dormitories, societies, fraternities, sororities and others form teams and go at each other. This spring the winners were four men from the football dormitory: Fred Zeigler, split end; Dave DeCamilla, offensive tackle; George McCarthy, defensive tackle; and Tom Scott, a former athlete now a graduate student.

"More remarkably, the winners—or, at least three of them—were also involved with spring practice under football Coach Paul Dietzel. Yet, Dietzel, proud as he was of his charges, did not seem surprised by their intellectual triumph. He said 'They can think quickly, which is why they won the contest, and why they can make split second decisions when they are lined up two feet in front of somebody and a play begins.'"

INTERPRETATIONS

Situation—A prospective student-athlete is a member of a high school or preparatory school graduating class made up of both boys and girls; or, he is a member of a graduating class of a school which is composed of divisions, such as commercial, college preparatory or vocational.

Question—In determining the prospect's high school rank, is it permissible to use his rank among male students only or his rank in his particular high school division?

Answer—No. The NCAA defines high school rank as the student's standing in his graduating class expressed in terms of exact rank in class and total number of students in the class or in terms of rank in class divided by the total number in the class. In other words, the full class must be used and a student's rank may not be determined simply by segregating out the male students or members of a certain division and figuring the prospect's standing on that basis. [NCAA Bylaw 4-6-(b)-(1)].

Three Midwest College Champions Crowned

Northern Iowa, U. of Missouri (Rolla) and Northeast Missouri walked off with the three championships in College Division Regional Championships at Northern Iowa.

The host team captured the track title, outscoring second place Northeast Missouri by 60 points with a final total of 94½. Larry McCready paced the Panthers with two firsts, in the 120 and 440 hurdles, an anchor on the winning 440 relay unit and a fifth in the long jump.

UM Rolla, with three golfers within three strokes of the medalist, took that title, finishing two strokes better than Northern Iowa. The winner's Doug Coen was medalist with 151.

Northeast Missouri, winning the doubles title and placing a finalist in the singles, took the tennis title, with Luther a close second. The doubles team was composed of Dave Romberg and Ron Selkirk. The singles champ was Rolf Wulfsberg of Luther, who defeated NEM's Kurt Marin in the finals.

Track winners were: Shotput, M. McCready (UNI), 55-11¼; Long jump, May (Lincoln), 23-6½; Javelin, Kidd (Luther), 200-10; Triple jump, May (Lincoln), 49-1½; 440 relay, Northern Iowa, 41.9; Mile, Carpenter (UNI), 4:15.5; High jump, Harding (Morningside), 6-6; 120 highs, L. McCready (UNI), 14.1; 440, Davis (NEM), 47.7; 100, White (UNI), 10.1; Discus, Lamberson (SW Mo.), 159-3¼; 880, Daniels (UNI), 1:54.7; 440 hurdles, L. McCready (UNI), 53.9; 200, Middleton (Lincoln), 22.3; Three-mile, Granger (SW Mo.), 14:47.5; Mile relay, Northeast Missouri, 3:18.9; Pole vault, Albritton (NEM), 15-0.

Three Named to Committee Posts By NCAA Officers

Appointments to three NCAA committees have been made by the Association's officers.

Rix N. Yard, director of athletics at Tulane University, has been appointed to the Insurance Committee. Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, was named a delegate to the United States Track and Field Federation.

New delegates to the U. S. Baseball Federation are Arthur B. Metheny, director of athletics at Old Dominion College, and Gene Duffy, NCAA director of events.

Two Track Meets Certified

The Kennedy Games, Berkeley, Calif., scheduled for May 31, were added to the certified list of track and field meets for the summer season by the NCAA Extra Events Committee.

The Montgomery Track and Field Championship, Montgomery, Ala., a non-income meet, was exempted from certification.

A previous list of approved meets was published in the May issue of the NCAA NEWS.

Life Begins At 40 for Aspiring Former Fireman

A new life began at 40 for Robert W. Kief, an Illinois State University junior from Pekin, who this week was named the recipient of the first annual Horton Scholarship for Physical Education.

At an age when most men are firmly secure in their life-long careers, Kief was finished in his.

He had served 13 years on the Pekin Fire Department, four as assistant chief. Then a disability forced him into premature retirement . . . with a wife and four children to support.

"I didn't know what I was going to do," recalls Kief. But with encouragement from his family and many friends in the teaching field, Kief came to Illinois State.

Now 43, he will graduate next year with a degree in physical education. He has held a student job in athletic training at ISU and plans to specialize in that field.

Kief's formal education had been interrupted in 1943 when he left Pekin High School during his junior year to join the Navy. After four years of service, he had an assortment of jobs before enlisting in the Army.

He was a drill instructor at Fort Riley, Kan., during a three-year hitch in the Army. He joined the Pekin Fire Department in 1952 and was comfortably established in that work until being forced to retire.

His adjustment to college work was a quick one. He carries a B average in course work. The Horton scholarship is given to the physical education student who gives evidence of leadership qualities as well as academic ability.

Kief's children are no longer children, ranging in ages from 14 to 20.

"I did find out that I'm not the oldest person in my class," says Kief, who is called Gramps by ISU athletes visiting the training room. "There are a couple of fellows who are 46."

NOTES and QUOTES

William P. (Bill) Johns has resigned as commissioner of the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association, effective June 30. Johns has been serving in the post for the last three years. A seven-man committee headed by J. E. Thompson, director of athletics at St. Paul's College, will seek a successor to Johns.

Willis Casey has moved up the ladder at North Carolina State, from assistant to director of athletics. Casey was swimming coach at N.C. State for 20 years, and never had a losing season.

Thomas Pope has been named basketball coach at State University College at Geneseo, N.Y. Pope has been at Arcade Central School for six years. He succeeds Carl Witzel, who stays on as soccer coach.

ELABORATE KIT TO EACH NCAA FOOTBALL INSTITUTION

In a significant major contribution to the celebration of college football's Centennial season, the Chevrolet Motor Division will provide each of the NCAA's 433 football-playing member institutions with a special, extensive Centennial Game kit.

Included in the kit will be a large number of items around which an institution can build an elaborate Centennial program at one of its 1969 home games.

It is designed, along with the 44 player's certificate-medallions the NCAA will provide each institution, to give the selected game considerable Centennial flavor and color.

Announcing sponsorship of the kit program, Chevrolet's Assistant National Merchandising Manager Russ Fons described it as another indication of Chevrolet's continuing interest in NCAA activities, in addition to its support of college football as a major sponsor of the NCAA football television series for the third consecutive year.

He emphasized that through presentation of the kits, Chevrolet is attempting to make it possible for every football-playing member to create its own substantial Centennial program. It has been suggested that the institution's homecoming game would be an appropriate occasion for the salute to the game's traditions and to the university's own football history.

Many phases of a Centennial ceremony are possible using elements of the kit. It will contain award certificates for the institution's coaching and athletic staffs and administration, a trophy for the winning team and a tiara for the game queen, among other items.

Items with which to decorate the stadium will be included.

Integral Centennial Part

Responding for the Association on behalf of its members, NCAA Centennial Committee Chairman Larry Klein stressed the importance of the kit as an integral part of the on-campus Centennial observance while welcoming Chevrolet's continuing support of the 100th Anniversary.

Following are the items which will be included in each kit:

*An official Centennial flag—for use in the stadium.

*A trophy—for the team which wins the Centennial game.

*30 certificate-medallions—for presentation to university administrators, athletic department members and special friends of the university.

*Centennial posters—for use in publicizing the 100th Anniversary.

*Queen's tiara—for use in crowning the queen, or the institution's nominee in the 1968 national Centennial Queen contest.

*Centennial medallions and coins—for use in pre-game flipping and presentation to special honored guests.

*A band plaque—to be presented to the university's band director in appreciation for its contributions to intercollegiate football.

*A MVP plaque—for presentation to the outstanding player in the game.

*Centennial paintings—four small framed prints and a set of large prints of Arnold Friberg's classic paintings of college football's history will be included for display purposes.

Chevrolet Motor Division's Assistant National Merchandising Manager Russ Fons (center) points out the Centennial Game trophy to NCAA Executive Director Walter Byers (left) and University of Missouri, Kansas City coed Melanie Meyers, who seems particularly interested in the tiara which will be awarded the queen of each institution's Centennial Game. Chevrolet will present a Centennial Game kit to each NCAA football-playing institution. A Centennial Flag, also to be included, drapes the table on which the kit display is exhibited.

Committee, and the ECAC and other conference offices are playing major roles in the planning and administration of college football's 100th Anniversary celebration. Centennial flags may be ordered from the NCAA for $25.

Rules Film On Wrestling To Be Offered

The National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations has announced the production of a new official rules film, Wrestling by the Rules. It will be released for distribution July 10, 1969. Prints may be obtained through individual state high school athletic associations or directly from the National Federation.

The 16½-minute color movie with commentary devoted in its entirety to wrestling rules interpretations and officiating procedures covers those difficult judgment situations which occur instantaneously during a typical wrestling match.

Authenticity of the interpretations is guaranteed since the high school members of the NCAA Wrestling Rules Committee, along with its chairman and secretary, served as the technical staff. Also serving in an advisory capacity were high school coaches and officials who are currently active and well versed on the subject.

The film is a supplement to Wrestling Officiating Illustrated and will serve as a valuable visual aid in college officiating classes. With the exception of high school modifications, the interpretations, as given in the film, are correct for the intercollegiate level of the sport. It is recommended for all levels of amateur wrestling.

A good example of an institution getting into the swing of college football's Centennial year is shown above. The University of Nebraska has created a special Centennial design for its 1969 grid tickets. The Cornhuskers play Texas A&M the week after they open at home against USC.

More Soccer Teams Certified for Summer

The NCAA Extra Events Committee has issued an additional listing of soccer teams that have been certified for the summer of 1969. The list is a supplement to the listing appearing in last month's NCAA News. The list has also been forwarded to all member institutions.

Soccer players and coaches are reminded that a student-athlete who was a member of an intercollegiate soccer team this past year will lose his eligibility if he participates on a non-certified team either during the intercollegiate soccer season, or during the summer.

The teams added to the list are: Santa Barbara United, Santa Barbara, Cal.; San Francisco All Stars Selection, San Francisco, Cal.; Eastern Connecticut All-Stars, Williamantic, Conn.; Worthing Brothers Soccer Club, Wilmington, Del.; Indian Soccer Club, Irvington, N. # Summer Baseball Teams, Leagues Certified

Seven summer baseball leagues and seven independent teams have been certified by the NCAA Summer Baseball Committee.

Member institutions are reminded that student-athletes should be discouraged from participating in those leagues, or on teams, not certified.

The Association's certification program does not concern teams which are drawing playing talent from the immediate area in which they are located and play schedules which require a minimum amount of travel.

Student-athletes also should be informed of Official Interpretation 14 of NCAA Constitution 3-1: "A student-athlete may participate as an individual or as a member of a team against professional athletes, but he may not participate on a team known to him, or which reasonably should have been known to him, to be a professional team. For the purposes of this interpretation, a professional team shall be any team which is a member of or affiliated with a recognized professional sports organization, or any organized team which includes among its playing personnel any athlete who currently is under contract to a team which is a member of or affiliated with a professional organization in that sport, or any organized team on which there is an athlete receiving payment of any kind for his participation other than actual and necessary expenses for game trips."

Correction Made On Trampoline Standings

The Trampoline Championship results printed in last month's News were scores of the preliminaries, and not the finals. Michigan did win the team title, but Colorado State was second, with Iowa and Southern Illinois tied for third.

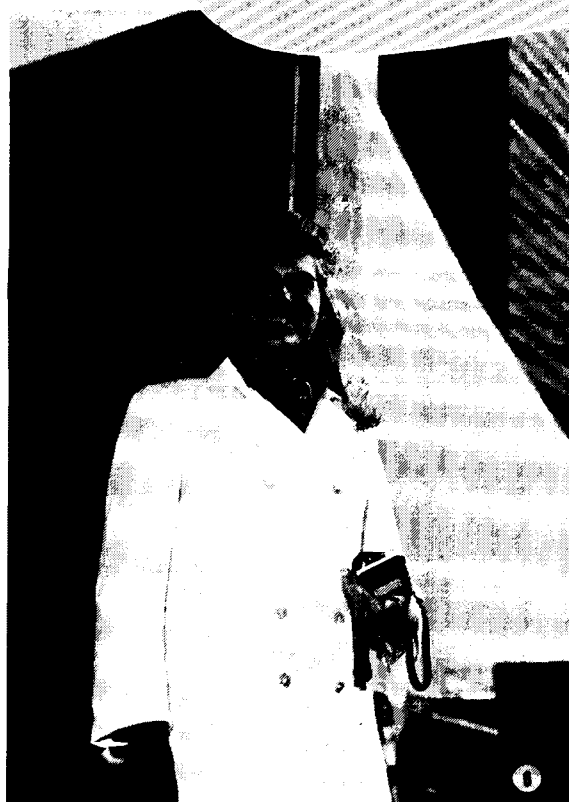

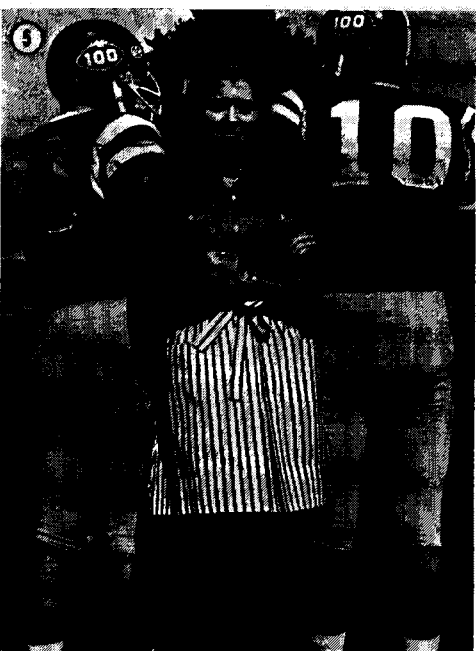

Dave Jacobs of Michigan was the individual winner, beating seven other competitors in an elimination series. Other award winners were: 2. George Huntzicker, Michigan; 3. Homer Sardina, Southern Illinois; 4. Stormy Eaton, New Mexico; 5. Tim Wright, Michigan; 6. Barry Slotten, Iowa.
